- 1:30pm Back to hotels and airport

The participants will get tram tickets to bring them to INSA directly, since all the hotels are easy to reach by tram. There will be no conference bus picking up all participants, as they will be in different hotels. All logistical details will be explained in the welcome packet. Keep in mind that Lyon's center is small and there will not be a transportation problem.

The Wednesday evening will be free, as people certainly want to divide in small groups and have a more private evening according to their interests.

The program for the significant others will be decided with the participants, like we always did. We would advise not to select the Holiday Inn for them, as it is very close to the meeting place, but less close to the center of Lyon where the museums are located and where cultural events will take place.

The side trip to Grenoble: see separate program and registration.
The participants will be informed separately by GE4 in the next days.
